OHIO COURT TO DECIDE WHAT DAMAGES ARE REASONABLE

1/11/2010

The January 11th issue of American Medical News contained an article in its Professional Issues section featuring commentary from Reminger attorney and partner Martin T. Galvin.

The magazine article is entitled "Ohio Court to Decide What Damages are Reasonable."

2010 GROWTH REPORT FOR REMINGER'S YOUNGSTOWN OFFICE

1/13/2010

In a time when some law firms have cut back or even shut their doors, the Youngstown office of Reminger Co., LPA has thrived in the soft economy. From staffing, to new initiatives, to professional accolades and more, Reminger enjoyed a particularly positive 2009. Reminger's Youngstown office is one of ten Reminger offices located throughout Ohio and Kentucky. 2009 marked a year of exciting advancements for the firm as a whole, including:

- Opening a new office in Louisville, Kentucky

- Launching the Reminger Foundation, a non-profit 501(c)(3) charitable organization providing grants to worthy causes that improve the quality of people's lives and promote positive change in neighborhoods where Reminger's offices are located
- Creating the Women's Initiative, focused on strengthening and furthering Reminger's dedication to attracting and retaining talented women lawyers
- Hiring four new partners and naming seven additional partners
- Bringing aboard four new associates
- Relocating their office in the Toledo market

If 2010 is anything like last year, Reminger is looking forward to another great year of relationships, successes and opportunities to contribute to the communities they serve.

REMINGER ARGUES FIRST CASE BEFORE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT

1/13/2010

On January 13, 2010, George Coakley of the Reminger Co., LPA firm's Cleveland office argued its first case before the U.S. Supreme Court. The case is styled Karen L. Jerman v. Carlisle, McNellie, Rini, Kramer & Ulrich, et. al., Supreme Court of the United States Case No. 08-1200. A decision on the case has yet to be announced.

The case began in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio. There, Judge Patricia Gaughan ruled on two legal issues for the first time in Ohio: (1) the words "in writing" in a validation notice sent to a debtor is a violation of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act ("Act") and (2) the bona fide error defense under the FDCPA encompassed legal as well as clerical error.

The Petitioner appealed Judge Gaughan's ruling on the bona fide error defense to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. The Sixth Circuit affirmed the trial court's decision in all respects. The Sixth Circuit's decision created a "circuit split" on the issue - three circuits had found the defense was limited to clerical error; and three found the exact opposite.

The U.S. Supreme Court granted certiorari to the Petitioner on June 29, 2009. Coakley, who had handled the case from its inception with his partner James O'Connor, assembled a team of appellate and professional liability lawyers within Reminger to write the briefs and prepare for oral argument. Coakley and his team were able to assemble an impressive list of amici or "friends" who filed briefs in support of the position advanced by the Reminger team on behalf of their client.

Oral argument was conducted before the nine Justices of the U.S. Supreme Court on January 13th. Coakley's team, their client and "friends" now await what could be a significant ruling by the Court interpreting the FDCPA for just the second time in the Act's history since 1977.

Coakley said that he was "surprised how the case developed from a seemingly simple issue to one of far greater proportions over time. Arguing before the U.S. Supreme Court is as good as it gets for a trial lawyer. Everyone should be so lucky."

REDUCING YOUR REAL ESTATE TAXES

1/20/2010

The current real estate market is suffering and in many cases, property values have fallen across the State of Ohio. However, not all property values have fallen and many property owners are still paying taxes based on overvalued properties. Although times are tough in the real estate industry, the one bright spot for property owners is the possibility of reducing their real estate taxes.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT LIMITS DEFENSE TO LIABILITY IN CONSUMER PROTECTION CASE

4/22/2010

The United States Supreme Court announced a decision Wednesday, April 22, 2010, in a case that limits the scope of a defense provided to debt collectors who violate the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA) so as to exempt a legal error made in good faith. Reminger attorney George Coakley represented a Beachwood attorney and her firm against allegations that they engaged in abusive debt-collection practices when they issued a notice in connection with a foreclosure action. COURT'S FAIR DEBT COLLECTION PRACTICES ACT RULING MAY HAVE NEGATIVE IMPACT ON LAWYERS

4/27/2010

LawyersUSAOnline.com posted a story on their site April 27, 2010, featuring commentary from Reminger attorney and partner George Coakley regarding the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in a Fair Debt Collection Practices Act case that may create ethical dilemmas for attorneys forced to interpret the statute on behalf of their clients. Coakley questioned, "If they are faced with an interpretation of law where they might be wrong, then they have a real ethical dilemma: do they advance the interest of their client, as they should, or do they protect themselves from personal liability?"

TWO REMINGER ATTORNEYS FEATURED AS CO-AUTHORS OF SPRING 2010 DRI PUBLICATION

4/27/2010

Reminger attorneys Laurie J. Avery and W. Bradford Longbrake co-authored the cover story of the upcoming Spring 2010 issue of In-House Defense Quarterly.

The article, titled "The New Language of Personal Jurisdiction?" examines how courts are addressing the impact of the internet on the issue of Personal Jurisdiction. Traditional measures of due process limit the exercise of personal jurisdiction to occasions where a defendant's activities demonstrate significant contacts with that state.

OHIO SUPREME COURT ALLOWS JURIES TO CONSIDER MEDICAL WRITE-OFFS

Reminger Attorneys Martin Galvin and William Meadows Authored Amicus Brief on Behalf of the Academy of Medicine of Cleveland and Northern Ohio

5/5/2010

On May 4, 2009 the Ohio Supreme Court issued an Opinion the case of Jacques v. Manton, 2010-Ohio-1838, and in so doing reaffirmed the viability of Robinson v. Bates, 2006-Ohio-6362. The essence of the Court's decision is that, at trial, where damages for personal injury are sought, evidence may be admitted of both the amount billed a plaintiff in medical charges and the amount actually paid. A plaintiff may still present evidence of the face amount of their medical bills, but defendants, in turn, may show the jury what portion of the medical bills were written off by the health care provider. The Ohio Supreme Court stated that this result was mandated both by the common law collateral source rule, and by R.C. 2315.20, which was enacted after the cause of action in Jacques accrued. Two lower courts had held both that R.C. 2315.20 superseded Robinson v. Bates, and that this statute prohibited juries from being informed that portions of medical bills introduced into evidence had been written off.

Reminger was privileged to have participated in this case. Marty Galvin and Bill Meadows authored an Amicus Brief on behalf of the Academy of Medicine of Cleveland and Northern Ohio.

"We were pleased to be able to provide support in this appeal on behalf of such a vital organization as the Academy of Medicine," said Galvin.

Meadows added, "This decision will hopefully eliminate the ability of plaintiffs to obtain damage awards that include medical expenses which were never actually paid to medical providers."

THREE REMINGER ATTORNEYS ELECTED TO OHIO WOMEN'S BAR ASSOCIATION BOARD FOR 2010-2011 TERM

6/14/2010

Three Reminger attorneys - Angela M. Courtwright, Lisa House and Carrie Masters - were elected to serve on the Ohio Women's Bar Association (OWBA) board for the 2010-2011 term. They were named during the OWBA's annual meeting, held in May 2010 at the Athenaeum in Columbus.

The Ohio Women's Bar Association was formed in 1991 to build a community of lawyers interested in the issues that uniquely affect women.

Courtwright was elected OWBA Vice President. She most recently served as Treasurer for the OWBA during the 2009-2010 term before taking on the Vice President role. House will serve as Immediate Past President, an active role with the OWBA. She held the position of President during the previous term. Masters was elected At-Large Trustee for the coming year. This is her first year serving on the OWBA board.

Managing Partner Stephen E. Walters remarked, "We are fortunate to have these dynamic attorneys on our team who are able to contribute their time and talent to such a vital organization."

REMINGER ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENT OF THREE NEW PRACTICE GROUP CO-CHAIRS

6/14/2010

Reminger is proud to announce the appointment of accomplished attorneys Joseph Borchelt, Ronald A. Mingus and Jeanne M. Mullin as new practice group co-chairs.

Alongside veteran Nicholas D. Satullo, Borchelt is the co-chair of the firm's Employment Practices group, comprised of more than 20 attorneys. "I hope to diversify the practice group's geographic reach, and broaden the scope of services available to our clients," said Borchelt.

Mingus serves as co-chair of the firm's Dental Liability group along with Richard Rymond. The Dental Liability group's 15 attorneys have defended dentists in approximately 2,000 malpractice lawsuits and actions brought by the Ohio State Dental Board. The group also provides risk management and business advice to dentists and dental practice groups.

In collaboration with Medical Malpractice co-chair William A. Meadows, Mullin said that she looks forward to advancing the practice group and serving their physician, hospital and health care clients with "expertise, dedication, and compassion." With more than 45 attorneys located in offices throughout Ohio and Kentucky, the Medical Malpractice group is dedicated to the defense of physicians, hospitals, nurses, nursing homes and ancillary service providers in virtually every area of the healing arts.

"These attorneys have demonstrated not just a thorough knowledge of the law in their respective practice areas," said Managing Partner Stephen E. Walters, "but also an inherent leadership quality that suits them for their roles as co-chairs. We are lucky to have such talented professionals on our team."

6/15/2010

Reminger attorneys Christine S. Reid and Leon A. Weiss authored an article entitled "Adult Adoption and Beneficiary Status" in the June issue of the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Journal. The article addresses questions concerning whether Ohio recognizes adult adoption in-state and out-of-state, and what effect an adoption decree has upon beneficiary status.

REMINGER ATTORNEY QUOTED IN CLEVELAND JEWISH NEWS ARTICLE "GROWING SPECTER OF FINANCIAL ABUSE OF THE ELDERLY"

6/18/10

Reminger attorney Adam Fried was quoted in the article "Growing Specter of Financial Abuse of the Elderly" in the Cleveland Jewish News.

Adam lent his extensive knowledge in the area of elder abuse at the recent Consortium Against Adult Abuse Conference. The article cites that fifty-five percent of exploiters and abusers are family members – most often sons – or paid or unpaid caregivers. After that, it's "sweethearts" (practiced schemers) preying on lonely elders. Then it's unscrupulous professionals, perhaps accountants, bankers, financial planners, lawyers or doctors. "Most of the time, it is about the money," said Fried. "But sometimes it's just greed. Or it's a sibling rivalry thing. They want to show that they have 'the power,' that they are the favorite child," said Fried.

EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES GROUP NEWSLETTER 2010

Reminger's employment practices group created a newsletter which contains a number of articles addressing topical issues surrounding employment law.
