Acacia Perko Named Co-Chair of Reminger Co., LPA's Women's Initiative

CLEVELAND, OH – Reminger Co., LPA is pleased to announce that Acacia Perko has been named Co-Chair of our Women's Initiative. Acacia joins Co-Chair Carrie Masters Starts in overseeing our committee that focuses on the recruitment, advancement, and retention of women attorneys.

Established in 2008, the Reminger Women's Initiative has created marketing and networking opportunities for the firm as well as initiated the Vanguard Award Gala, an event that recognizes outstanding women and their contributions to the community. In addition, the group holds "Mentor Mondays" in conjunction with The Centers for Families and Children and El Barrio, helping prospective job candidates by conducting mock interviews and reviewing resumes.

Acacia's legal practice includes both litigation and transactional matters. On the litigation side, her practice involves general casualty insurance defense and medical malpractice defense. She defends hospitals and physicians in numerous specialties as well as skilled nursing and assisted living facilities. On the transactional side, her practice focuses on employment, business, and intellectual property matters for companies, including local craft breweries.

Acacia is active in the legal community as a member of the Columbus Bar Association, the Ohio Women's Bar Association, and the Women Lawyers of Franklin County. Acacia is an active rider with the United States Equestrian Federation. She is a former board member of My Sister's Place, a 501(c)(3) created to provide safe and sober housing for women in transition. Acacia is also a former co-chair of 4word Columbus, the Columbus chapter of 4word, a national faith-based community designed to connect, lead and support professional women to achieve their potential.

Acacia can be reached by calling 614.232.2628 or by emailing aperko@reminger.com
