

Community & Pro Bono

At Reminger, we are proud to give back to our communities. Our attorneys and staff devote hundreds of hours volunteering with various charitable organizations.

Reminger provides pro bono legal services to clients of the Legal Aid Society and to other individuals in our community in need.

Our firm is also committed to teaching and training our country's future lawyers. Reminger lawyers teach at various law schools and also coach several high school and law school mock trial teams throughout the state.

Reminger not only promotes and encourages community service and involvement, but also supports the following community associations through The Reminger Foundation.
