Nathan Lennon recently published the article "Is Delta-9 THC Contamination of Delta-8 Products a Trojan Horse for the Hemp Industry?" in Hemp Grower magazine.

The market for hemp-derived delta-8 THC products has exploded over the past year. And while the legality of this cannabinoid (or lack thereof) continues to be a point of significant controversy, another issue creating waves recently is the reporting of several studies showing numerous delta-8 products on the market contain surprising and illegal levels of delta-9 THC.
